

NONCOMMITTAL NEWSLETTER

A BOOKCLUB SHARING STORIES AND BUILDING CONNECTIONS

our monthly catch-up

They say that a problem shared is a problem halved. Well, we've found that a story shared just adds another book to our endless to-be-read pile...

But what a month it's been! We've had two events, and realised what a great community we have and continue to grow. We can't wait for all the future events and collaborations we have lined up.

We want to firstly thank Yolk for being such amazing hosts, and allowing our idea to come to life, and second of all thank all of you that have supported us in one way or another. The stories we have heard only increases our excitement for each event.

our special event with One more Chapter

With all this, we are pleased to share that we are doing a special book buy event with One More Chapter.

Fancy a date with a book without the pressure of picking the right one? Well at this event you will have your next book picked for you.

Afterwards, we will share drinks, picky bits, and stories. All at one More Chapter.

Tickets now available via our website!

noncommittal.thebookclub

hwww.noncommittalthebookclub.com

Our origin story

When we first got together, we shared our love of books, but the feeling that we did not belong at a book club.

For some of us, it was a fear of missing deadlines. Others the books not being something we would read. But we wanted to hear about all kinds of stories.

So it came to us to create noncommittal. And we knew we would create something great, but we did not realise the love and wonderful people we would bring together. From sharing our quirks, recommending reads, to talking about all things smut we have loved every moment.

meet us

bayley

bayley has had a great month of reading, ready to start Piranesi by Susanna Clarke bayley is enjoying the prospects of city life and all the new friends he has made georgia

georgia is currently reading Table For One by Emma Gannon. A story with dogs. What more is there you need to know?

georgia is currently debating getting into a new hobby of patchwork and is all ears for any guidance

jeav

jeav is just about to finish Piranesi and is now between books and open to any book recs.

he has just bought a ton of suncream, ready for another heatwave rob

rob has finished Piranesi and enjoyed it. he is about to start with the Assassin Apprentice by Robin Hobb

rob is excited for upcoming holidays to soak up the sun